

LEADER STANDARD WORK

Creating your new leadership routine

MAY 3 | 9-11 AM (PST)

ONLINE CLASS

$60 MEMBERS/

$100 NONMEMBERS

Class Description

The true purpose of leadership is to empower and develop your employees so they can achieve awesome things. To accomplish this, you need a standard way of working that will allow you to maximize your efficiency and impact while fulfilling your most important duty to your people.

As the whirlwind takes over our day, we quickly lose control of our priorities. Once we fall into firefighting mode, our ability to improve and sustain processes and activities becomes secondary. This is where Leader Standard Work (LSW) comes into play. LSW is the foundation for creating new leadership habits that will allow you to spend more time listening to your team, developing your team's problem-solving abilities, and sustaining improvements.

During this interactive session you will:

- Gain an understanding of the value of implementing LSW
- Learn how to connect LSW to your Organizational/Department/Personal purpose
- Discover what elements should be included in your LSW (some may surprise you)
- Start creating a draft of your own LSW
- Be inspired to start your new daily habits

Register: jennifer@nwhpec.com

Include: Name, Email, Job Title